QMASTOR continues its diversification into new markets securing a nickel ore installation at Société Le Nickel (SLN) in New Caledonia

January 29, 2007

QMASTOR Limited (ASX: QML) - Australia's leading supplier of bulk material management information systems and services - announced today that it has an agreement to provide its award winning Pit to Port.net® supply chain management system at Société Le Nickel – SLN in New Caledonia.

SLN's New Caledonian operations include: 5 main mining centres and associated load ports as well as a discharge port and the world's largest ferronickel smelter in Noumea - a complex supply chain to manage. Pit to Port.net® will be implemented to provide detailed material tracking; inventory and stockpile management; blending and grade control and comprehensive reporting. QMASTOR's integration system will facilitate seamless connectivity to internal systems for automated data interchange.

Managing Director Trent Bagnall stated: "QMASTOR welcomes the opportunity to develop a long-standing business partnership with SLN. Our systems are used in coal, iron ore, bauxite and now nickel highlighting the increasing market potential of QMASTOR systems. This agreement demonstrates QMASTOR's continued ability to deliver on growth through commodity and market diversification with the addition SLN as a valued client."

About Société Le Nickel – SLN

Société Le Nickel – SLN is a subsidiary of the French Eramet Group, a major mining and metallurgical company employing over 14,000 people in 20 countries. SLN mines substantial deposits of oxidised ore (garnierites) throughout New Caledonia. The ore is subsequently processed at the Doniambo smelter – the world's largest ferronickel producing plant. SLN exports nickel ore, ferronickel and nickel matte.
