An Anglo Coal operation which will utilise QMASTOR's supply chain software and systems.

Supply chain software company QMASTOR will provide its Pit to Port.net and iFuse software systems across all of Anglo Coal's Australian sites, in a major expansion of the company's dealings with the major miner.

The contract adds to QMASTOR's provision of a marketing and logistics information system to Anglo Coal and provides additional functionality including pit to product stockpile management at each mine site. The unified system will provide complete end-to-end supply chain management. ■
